SATURDAY APRIL 11 • 10:00 am – 4:00 pm • LINN PAVILION
GRADES 9 – 12th
FREE for SCUSD Students and TMA members • $15 Non-Members

Jump into today’s most creative and progressive art movement! In this workshop, students will learn to use the tools and techniques used by contemporary illustrators and street artists. Through hands-on experimentation with various tools and mediums, students will learn new ways of creating art while expanding their skill set. Students will create their own new and original 16x20 inch piece of art to take home.

Learn to work with acrylic paint, China Markers, ink, brushes and even toothbrushes! Students are encouraged to bring their sketchbook and dress in old clothing as things can get a little messy.

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR

Michael Foley is a professional freelance painter, photographer, and illustrator who uses saturated colors and cartoon-like imagery to craft deceptively light-hearted compositions. His style is constantly evolving. His distinctive teaching style provides unique insight into an alternative art movement.
